Andrew Jordon Re-Elected as Chairman of the West Virginia Chamber of Commerce

Charleston, W.Va. – The membership of the West Virginia Chamber of Commerce unanimously re-elected Andrew Jordon of Charleston, WV to serve a second term as Chairman of the West Virginia Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Jordon was first elected to the position on September 2, 2015. He is the owner of Pritchard Mining Company.

Chamber President Steve Roberts said, “I am thrilled to see Andrew return for another term as Chairman. He knows first-hand how to run a successful business in West Virginia and is on site at his mining operations every day, working directly with his employees. People in the Kanawha Valley also know Andrew for his generous philanthropic efforts. He is great citizen of West Virginia.”

Roberts continued, “Andrew’s first term as Chairman saw continued growth and success for the West Virginia Chamber. Membership and dues have grown despite a struggling economy, and the Chamber played an instrumental role in making West Virginia the 26th state to adopt a Right-to-Work law. I look forward to expanding on these achievements in the coming year.”

The membership of the Chamber also re-elected Pat Graney of PCG Investment Company to a second term as Vice-Chairman of the organization. J. Randolph Cheetham of CSX Corporation was elected serve as Secretary of the Board for the coming year, and Maribeth Anderson of Southwestern Energy was elected to serve as the Treasurer of the Chamber.
