West Virginia Chamber of Commerce's Newly Redesigned Website Receives National Recognition

The West Virginia Chamber of Commerce is thrilled to announce that its newly redesigned website, wvchamber.com, has won the Website + UX/UI Design Award at the 61st Annual Graphic Design USA (GDUSA) Awards.

Designed by Bulldog Creative Services, a West Virginia-based agency, the new website features a range of innovative tools aimed at better serving Chamber members and the business community. With its modern design, enhanced functionality and visually engaging layout, the site offers a user-friendly experience aiming to foster more growth and opportunity for businesses across the state.

"This award is a reflection of the collaborative spirit and dedication that went into creating our new website, designed with the needs of our Chamber members in mind," said Kaylin Jorge, Communications Director for the West Virginia Chamber of Commerce. "We're excited to continue fostering growth and opportunity for businesses across West Virginia. A special thank you to Bulldog Creative Services for their outstanding work in bringing our vision to life."

The website was designed to equip businesses with the tools and resources needed to thrive in today's fast-evolving environment. By prioritizing easy access to vital information, business education and resources, the site was constructed to strengthen and support West Virginia's business ecosystem.

The GDUSA Awards have been a benchmark of creative excellence for more than six decades, celebrating outstanding work across all design disciplines.
